On Friday night he played for Essendon Croatia in its
2-0 win over Frankston City in the Victorian Ampol Cup.
That night, Heidelberg Utd (Fitzroy) president Jim Mangopoulos was negotiating with Croatia officials for the transfer of Banovic, rated by some as Australia's top goalkeoper.

The transfer was finalised on Saturday afternoon when Heidelberg released goalkeeper Peter Blasby to Croatia as part payment for Banovic. Croatia is to receive a cash sum believed to be in the region of $15,000.

Banovic met his new team mates during a training session on Saturday afternoon as Heidelberg prepared for its PSL kick off against St George at Olympic Park on Monday.

Banovic will make his debut in the Philips League against Footscray on Sunday, thus kicking off a second phase in a brilliant cereer which could lead to him representing Australia.

Neither Heidelberg nor Essendon would devulge the exact amount of the transfer fee, but early last week Croatia manager Frank Burin said his club had placed a $20,000 fee on Banovic's head.

Heidelberg valued Blasby at $4,500, so presumably the difference would be made up in cash.
Heidelberg originally wanted to trade Blasby, Mike Microstic another player for Banovic, but Croatie rejected this offer.

Who's that with St George captain George Harris?

Why, it's Captain Cook, all dressed up in uniform and, can it be – carrying a soccer ball (?!)

Footscray may visit Yugoslavia

Footscray J.U.S.T. has had an invitation to tour Yugoslavia. If all goes well, the tour will take place in November.

The invitation comes from the Yugoslav semi-govern-ment organisation Matica Iseljenika, which means expatriates organisation.

Footscray's sponsor, Yu-goslav Airlines, is keen for the club to accept the invitation.

One of the tour games would be against Vardar Skoplje, which visited Australia late last year.

Red Star Belgrade may also play against the tourists.

Papasavas is still fuming over the way withdrew from soccer only days before the 1979 season kicked off.

However, he said he was confident that another network would take soccer in 1980.

The world youth championships, contested by at least 16 countries, will be staged in Australia in 1981. This may be a lever in negotiations for TV coverage of the PSL.

But if Philips Industries cease to sponsor the league after the initial threeyear, $450,000 agreement which ends at the end of this season - what then?

Obviously the league would try hard to get a replacement sponsor, but if such negotiations failed, the league would have to be restructured.

There has already been some speculation about having a regional competition similar to the North American Soccer League.

This would cut travel costs and make it easier for clubs to meet such costs from its own resources.

It would mean that after initial qualifying competitions clubs would advance from their regions, or States, to a play-off series against qualifiers from other regions.

Taking it one step further and providing Federations State aren't hostile to the idea, the remaining big league clubs could play against qualifiers from their own region for a regional or State championship.

The 0-10 network's withdrawal from soccer means that the "Phi-lips Top Soccer" show no longer exists. Stations in Sydney, Melbourne, Brisbane and Adelaide will no longer cover soccer games. Stations in Canberra and New-castle will decide for themselves whether they want to stay with

A network spokesman blamed escalating costs, and disappointing ratings for the death of television soccer.

Mr Papasavas reacted angrily, saying: "The show was never given the chance to improve its rating. In the two years it was shown, its time slot was always on very late at night.

"Has the network suddenly forgotten that it conceded at the time it went into soccer that this was not a one or two-year proposition, but a long-term one?

"And isn't it a coincidence that the network decides to drop soccer not long after having decided to get into horseracing?'

Mr Papasavas called the network's decision another kick in the behind for soccer.

We were told of the decision less than a week before the league season kicked off," he said.

Sydney City played some attractive soccer in the first half hour of the first semi-final to go one goal up through Hilton Silva, then strolled home against listless APIA for the rest of the match.

For APIA, Rampanti and Butler were disappointing, but one must take into account that the midfield dynamo, Peter Stone, was missing and much needed fire was lacking.

Terry Butler one of the most dovastating wingers in NSW, played away from its usual position and looked all at sea. I an sure that Mark Treaster would have had a lot of problems had Butler played on the flank.

As it was APIA had only Reed (later Secott) and Vernor up front and that is not sufficient to worry the sound defence of Sydney City.

Rempenti appeared to play on the right wing, a decision that still baffles, considering the abun-dance of skill the ex-Italian repre-

I was more than interested to read Mike Johnson's comments in last week's edition of "Soccer Action" with regard to the increasing "professionalism" in club staffing and structures in Australian soccer, the PSL in particular.

FSL in particular.

I couldn't agree more with Mike that is is a healthy, if somewhat belated, trend that clubs are finally thinking along these lines, and I am sure it will be of long term benefit to the game if all clubs have to oberate in this manner. Thankfully the days of the manager/coach, an impossible job for anyone to do properly, are becoming numbered and clubs are delagating these duties to part-time, full-time or honorary staff.

There is little point in having a full-time coach if all the players are part-time.

At the same time it is impossible — and in my experience I have yet to see a person do justice to all areas of the job — for one man to be a real manage/coach.

A real manager/coach must be responsible for coaching the PSL squad, managing it (contracts, travel arrangements, employment for players, training facilities, equipment) coordinate the club's youth policy and the training of these squads, handle the press relations, PR for the club junior and school promotions and coaching clinics, sponsorship and other means of raising funds, match day promotions, and many other associated activities.

Whilst agreeing with Mike in these remarks, I also disagree with his comments that the Sydney clubs (Sydney City and St George were mentioned) are better organised because of their professional staffs than the provincial areas Camberra and Newcastle, where the committees are thusiastic amateurs.

After working in all these clubs, except Newcastle, I can speak with reasonable authority in saying that Mike could be no further from the truth — in actual fact the reverse if be no further from the truth — in actual fact the reverse if the case.

Canberra and Newcastle have already provided the example for the rest of the clubs to follow.

Their structures, involving active sub-committees, leave the Sydney clubs for dead and it is only recently that the Sydney clubs are appreciating that fact.

None more than Sydney City, who are attempting to remedy the problem and I believe St George are taking steps in that direction also.

The most professional off the field set-ups are at Canberra and Newcastle.

Canberra is fortunate to have a superb stadium and a board of directors who have occupations which allow them to spend an enormous amount of time on soccer activities. It is these sub-committees which handle the areas of media, sponsorship, schools, juniors, promotions, grounds, advertising etc. and the enthusiasm and involvement generated by these sub-committees develops support and spectators for their teams.

One minor point in Mike's article regarding Sydney City and its long-serving secretary Harry Lakimaker is that Harry is not an employee of the club.

Harry has for years, and still does, work in a completely honorary capacity which is more credit to him for the enormous contribution he has made to Hakoah, Sydney City and soccer.

Whilst on about Sydney City, the club takes exception to Peter Windsor's article in last week's "Soccer Action" sta-ting that Denny Mouls, the young Socceroo defender, has turned down an attractive offer to play for the club this season.

Sydney City, with International Kevin Mullen, Alan Kershaw, skipper Henry Mowbray, new signing Ian Bruce, under 21 player of the year Ian Sounces, Brazilian Mozart Fonseca, and Mark Trenter, the former Welsh Youth International to fill the team's fullback spots have never approached nor spoken to Moulis about joining City. The club negotiating with Moulis was Sydney Olympic—not Sydney City.

"We will soon increase our corwds to around 8000 and the statium will be packed by season's end," a confident Barton promised.

"Our entertainment program will be aimed directly at youngsters in the 12 to 18 age group, who normally disappear from soccer."
General manager Los Bordacs said that $30,000 has been allocated for publicity in the printed and electronic media during the 1979 season.

This investment was decided on after market research showed that more than 40,-000 residents of the district are in one way or another involved with soccer, either as players, officials or just parents of children in junior

Sydney and not to date having seen much of the other Philips League outfits, I will take an educated guess and put the two Adelaide clubs, plus Fitzroy and South Melbourne as the most likely to challenge them.

West Adelaide has an ex-cellent defence and midfield, but I wonder if it has the stri-kers or the reserve depth to hold onto its title.

Whoever comes out on top whoever comes out on top in the Philips League this season may find themselves in contention with Sydney's sleeping giant, potentially the strongest club in the land.

That is Sydney Olympic which has had two and a half disastrous seasons in the league to date.

A mid-season recovery under new coach, Joe Mardon last year appears as if it could be sustained this year.

Sydney Olympic has the best squad of players I have ever seen at the club.

Brisbane Lions threw aw what would have been an in-valuable first up point when they went down 2-1 to Sydney City at Perry Park

Although City looked the better footballing side - they are usually superior to most teams - Lions still had ample opportunity to take a firm grip in the early part of the second half

City were down to 10 men after Campbell's 46th minute expulsion, and their Rhythm had gone. Suddenly Lions were right back in things at 1-1, only nine minutes after the break.

This is where they missed a couple of good chances to ram their advantage home, giving City time to recover and recompose themselves. Admittedly Lions had a justifiable claim for a penalty servisible to the couple of the cou

Lownds had brilliantly saved a Barnes header with scat-like pounce on the goal line but coach Eddia Spearritt is certain to have demanded an explanation from Lownds as to why he acted with such impetuously.
City began in ominous fashion, with Watson and Silva hugging their respective sidelines, continually feeding off a steady supply from the midfield.
But Lions weathered the opening barrage and with Amos and Ontong settling into what were to become probably their best performances in a Lions shirt, the disappointing opening crowd suddenly had a march on its hands.
With Amos roving strongly

A magnificent save by Phil Dando in Newcastle United's goal in the 74th minute was the turning point of the game.

Newcastle United were holding on to a slim 2-1 advantage and the South Melbourne machine was starting to get into top gear. After some continuous pressure, South Melbourne were awarded a free kick outside the box. Kennry Drakeford touched the ball to George Christopulos whose right toot shot had goel written all over it. However the unsighted Doudo managed to dive to hight and push the ball around the post for a fruitless corner.

Newcastle United regained control of the game after that and possibly were ulucky not to finish in front by a bigger margin.

In one of the best games seen the International Sports Centre, at the International Sports Centre, Newcastle KB United grabbed the lead in the 16th minute when Duncan Cummings brought down Col Curren and from the ensuing free kick, Curren un-leashed a vicious right foot shot that gave his 1974 World Cup teemate Jack Rellay no chance.

Newcastle's lead however was short lived. It took South Mel-bourne three minutes go get back on level terms.

From a free kick taken by Drakeford, Newcastle's defence failed to cover Stuart Baxter and his header gave Dendo no chance.

One would have expected the vastly experienced South Melbourne side to take control at that stage. Instead it was the rether in-experienced Newcastle midfield of Cowburn, Seddon and McClelland that put their stamp on the game.

Seddon in perticular was steady and some of his quick changes of play caught the South Melbourne defence short several times. Twice his passes put the local boy Keth Harnis through only to see the former Australian goalke

However, Newcastle United were not going to be denied for very long because in the 57th minute they took the lead, again.

From a free kick taken by lan Seddon, Bill Summerscales's header gave Reilley no chance.

From then on, Newcastle soaked up quite bit of pressure for a 15 minute period, but after they weathered the storm, looked more penetrating and it was only the brilliance of helily in goal that kept the score respectable.

The publicized and mostly full me professional side of South lathourne must have been a distime professional side of South Melbourne must have been a dis-appointment to the 150 or so supporters that travelled from Melbourne to support their side.

The midfield must be a worry to Dave McLaren. How-ever I am convinced that last week was not South Mel-bourne's best showing with the talent available to them should figure prominently in the run for the title.

On the other hand, Newcastle showed that they could be diffi-cult to beat if they can concen-trate in doing the things they are best at, and that is to harass the opposition, force them into errors and strike back quickly.

Alian Vest deserves a pat on the back for giving youngsters Brett Cowburn and Melcolme McClelland another chance in the midfield.

Newcastle KB United are trav-eiling to Adelaide next week to meet the League champions West Adelaide. The team should be un-changed and it would not surprise to see United take a point away from Adelaide. West Adelaide are a polished combination and start-ed the season brilliantly last week ed the season brilliantly last week with a great win against APIA in Sydney, and no doubt have not any intentions of relinquishing their title.

Nearly 7,000 Canberra City

Nearly 7,000 Canberra City fans saw their team humble Marconi 3-1 in the first round of the Philips League.

This was Canberra's best win In five encounters between the two sides. It was a win they thorough y deserved.

Marconi officials, perhaps, will make much of a disallowed Marconi effort in the 43rd minute when Eddle Krncevic found the net with a fine header.

But the lineaman flagged for off-side and Krncevic's header-when Marconi were already on-nil in front — was disallowed. If it had stood It would have sewn things up for the visitors.

But really they had little to complain about.

But really they had little to complian about.

Fitter and faster up front they complian about.

Fitter and faster up front they allowed Cambera to dominate the territorial play ... even in the first stanza.

Ex-Camberra City skipper Tonry Menderaon, bought by Marconi for 514,000, was not really as effective as one might have expected. But he was closely marked.

After seven minutes a Krncevic header that went just wide was the first real attempt on goal.

Then Caderges Eallery was suit through by Terry Byrne the experience of Marconi's Ive Prakado came to their rescue as Prakalo pushed the bell off Ballery's toe as he was about to shoot.

attack they were playing the ball too close and many promising moves broke down without a shot resulting.

Then, in the 30th minute, against the run of play, Marconishot into the lead.

It came from a great break-away, Henderson cleared Marconi's defences with a great overhead clearence and when Kneed got the ball be pushed it for Jankovic to chases.

And chase Jancovic did, beat-and chases Jancovic did, beat-and the second and beating him with a well-placed shot.

Canberra were lucky to keep things to a solitary goal deficit at the interval.

Then came their magnificent second half revival. New-signing Paul Fleiding — who had been in Just thee minutes after the turnound, it was the goal Canberra needed were the second period for within five work-rate of all players in-treased and everyone chased everything. It is this type of spirit that wins games.

Allan Maère, in fact, was the busient man on Marconi's side, in the second period for within five minutes of the equaliser he had to save from attempts by Termy. Bunny Moulle and George Balley.

Fielding had replaced the tenaged Joses Arquero at the turnaround and the ex-Sigo Rovers player's presence up front made by differences and sounders and dependence when he replaced Balley in the 60th minute.

Canberra were a team depended the and the minutes of the minutes of the minutes of the minutes.

So did Brioan Stoddcrt's appearance when he replaced Balley in the 60th minute.
Canberra were a team dogedly determined to win and they got their noses in front in the 63rd minute. And again Fileding had a hand for the ball ran free after he had challenged Maher and Byrre was on hit to find the net.
Johnny. Device put the issue beyond doubt for Canberra with a great solo goal in the 89th minute.

great solo goal in the 89th minute.

But Canberra had thoroughly deserved another goal for shear determination and genuine all-out effort.

Marconi were still dangerous from breaksways as Jankovica and Sharne showed in the second half, particularly Sharne when he ran 30 meters, rounded three defenders and only a full-length diving save from Hoskowskil prevented him scoring.
It was a great opening 1979 season game — for Canberra City that is.

Marconi stuck to tried and experienced players, but it didn't in middeld.

But when it came to going forward, Sunshine could offer only Dave Nelson as a danger man while Croydon had Jim Wyille playing very well, Joe Tront holding the ball confidently and playing short through passes, Roy Hemilton posing a constant threat in the air and Pet Lowrey threatening danger with his accuracy on the ball.

The revelation of the

The revelation of the Croydon team was left back Gary Hobson, son of former Ringwood and Croydon coach Norm Hobson, the long-serving Shrewsbury player who came to Australia some years ago to join Moo-roolbark.

Hobson is strong, fast and fearless. His defensive qualities are good, so now he can concentrate on developing his attacking play down the flank. Sunshine had the first scoring chance when Dave Nelson took advantage of a defender's mistake inside the box and launched a shot that Mick Edwards managed to knock clear.

the volley.

Quarter of an hour after half time, Sunshine coach Bill Walah replaced youngster John McMally and reserve Nick Cook with Paisley and Marovic, and the equaliser came only a minute later, when Dave Nelson nipped into the box and managed to into the box and managed to hook the ball over Edwards, into the empty net, with the Croydon defence stranded.

Dave Nelson was away again on a long through ball but Hobson, showing speed and reading the game well, cut acrossfield to catch Nelson and take the ball from him with a sliding tackle, just as all seemed lost for as all Croydon.

Duncan Smith hit the post with a long shot in the 62nd minute, and the ball bounced out to Hamilton who missed the open goal, with keeper John Scholten on

Smith was in the thick of things again four minutes from the end when he crossed to the far post where Hamilton rose to head home the winner.

Croydon City made sure of a berth in the Ampol Cup semi finals with victory over Hakoah, in a game which could easify be à dress rehearsal for the final.

Despite the defeat, its first in the season's competition, Hakoah showed control and power enough to suggest it will rogress through the semi finals.

In fact, the loss could be a bles-sing for coach, Frank Micle. The pressure associated with an un-beaten run has been lifted, and the playors have been given some more incentive to win this Friday night.

Hakoah is probably the best footballing team in the State League at present. It plays a possession game with con-fidence and purpose.

fidence and purpose.

The short passing and inter-changing of players makes Hakoah an attractive team. Unlike many other teams, who can push the ball around in their own half, but struggle once in the oppo-nents half, Hakoah has the players to be able to play this style all over the ground.

But who's to say Croydon hasn't got just as many skilful players? The likes of Pat Low-rey, Joe Tront and Jim Wyille are as skilful as anyone in the league.

Croydon, too, is an attractive team, and probably more exciting to watch than Hakoah, Because Croydon doesn't play a possession game doesn't mean it's an inferior team to Hakoah.

And once Croydon got some comentum in the second half, stretched Hakosh, which ad looked so composed and teady in the first half.

Hakoah was easily the better team in the first half, but Croydon pounded Hakoah for 20 minutes after half time.

Towards the end, Hakoah came back into the game, but with Croydon 2-1 up and playing with confidence, the scoreline wasn't altered.

In the first half, Dave Rigby aided by Bill Jordanou and lan Gibson, pretty much controlled the running of the game.

After the interval, it was Tront, with Lowrey, Duncan Smith and Jimmy Spink who were at the controls.

Hakoah's first goal was a great piece of finishing. Rigby pounced on a loose ball on the edge of the Croydon area, and flicked an early ball to winter Lee Nagy, cutting full back Mike Sinclair out of the game.

Soon after Hakoah čame close with a great build up, a ball from defence found Graham French in midfield. He turned and switch-ed the play to Gibson on the right.

An overlap by John Daperis followed by a cross gave French a header at goal, but his effort was just over the bar.

Later a similar move that led to the first goal ended with Rigby hitting over the bar when well-placed.

But in the hectic period after half time, Croydon had more chances to score than Hakoah had in the first half.

The first goal for Croydon by Roy Hamilton pushed the team into top gear.

A cross by Spink bounced in the Hakoah defence, and Ham-ilton was only too happy to nod home unchallenged.

Soon after, Wyllie and Lowrey made in-roads in the Hakoah area before Lowrey hit the ball from the goal line.

Anton Dosen, in an effort to ear, deflected the ball past goal-seper Bill Whiteside, who had

CROYDON, HAKOAH FOR THE FINAL

A new name will be engraved on the Victorian Ampol Cup after the final on Saturday night, March 24.

Saturday night, Warch 24.

If the semi finals at Olympic Park this Friday night follow the form book, Croydon City and Hakaah will play off in the final.

Neither club has won the trophy before and for Croydon it is the first time it has competed in the night series.

Of the four semi-finalists, Slavie is the only club to boast prior success in the Ampol Cup. That came in 1967.

But Croydon has the power to defeat Slavia and Hakaah the experience and polish to eliminate Green Gully Ajax.

The return of Alan Pongho has considerably strengthened Croydon's defence, which is backed up by Milek Edwards, fast emerging as 1 top State League goalkeeper.

Steve McCombe dominates in the air, and Jimmy Spink at right back is a solid and creative defender.

Croydon coach Mike Plunkett may be in doubt about the left back position. He has three contenders – Milks Binclair, Tom Kelly and youngster Gary Hobson. Sinclair's great-rexperience should see him retain his spot for the important game, although Hobson is potentially the best of the trio.

If Charlie Kelly can prove his fitness he may challeng Dave Brogan for a place in Croydon's rhythm.

Alox McPharson, after an indifferent start, has developed into a safe goalkeeper, but slavia is still troubled by its left back position.

Mick Shuttleworth lost his spot after playing three Ampol Cup games, and has been replaced by Dave Pyo, who doesn't look comfortable in the position.

Centre half Glen Westley is good in the air, so his duel with Hamilton will be even. Sweeper John Yzendoorn uses the ball extremely well, and is brilliant at covering team mates. He will be a stumbling block for Croydon.

But in midfield, Slavia doesn't have the shine of Croydon. Billy Brindle has great ability to pass the ball but doesn't gain possession often enough. The stocky former Everton reserves captain is not mobile and could do with

Brian Tuff is purely a defensive player in the middle of the park and although he's one of Slavia's chief motivators, his lack of pace will hinder him against the likes of Tront, Lowerey

Jim Train is Slavia's longest-serving player and fights like a buildog for his team. But he doesn't have the same attacking ability as Tront and Lowery.

Up front, Slavia smell-stocked Jernie

Steve Aldridge is a mobile, sharp striker

Lov Berrys is a sound goalkeeper, but full back Joe Thompson and centre back Mick (Narin must tighten up.

John Patten is a fast, tight-covering defender and he may be shifted from left back into the middle.

Forther Pattern as a last gain and the may be shifted from left back into the middle.

Vojtak is the dangerman for Ajax, with lan NoCerthy the defensive midfielder Steve Bennile is likely to hold his place ahead of Willie Sessill.

White Sessill was a last state of the sessill was a service he wants, but will have to work harder against Hakonh's well-organised defence.

Stave Carr is a brilliant player but can't do all the work up front. Deve Parkins must atone for his bad game against Slavie last week.

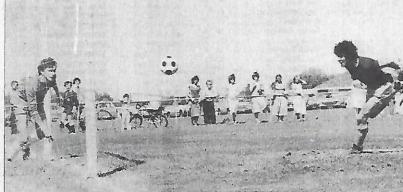

Hakonh's team is full of class and experience. Bill Whitesalde is a top poalkeeper and in the centre of defence Steve Gadsby and Anton Dosen are excellent.

Hakonh's full backs Nick Rakovalla and John Deperte tend to overdo it on occasions. Both like to attack, and Ajax could cause problems on the flanks if the pair aren't concentrating on their defensive duties.

Deve Rigby has made a big bleen and brilliant pompier. Bill Jordanous, this trio cubic that straint pompier. Bill Jordanous, this trio cubic the difference between the two sides. The absence of Milke Clarey has weakened Lakoha's attack. Graham French is a hardworking target man, and Les Nagy has explosive speed. But a goalkeeper is missing. Clarey has the ability, but is out injured.

Coach Frank Milele has had trouble filling is third striker's spot. He has tried Gerry Edmondon, Sean Rooney, Branke Bodmoveld and recently Stuart Blair, but is yet to find a man to fill the role.

Blair is the most likely.

Jamie Paton bared his fangs again, leaving no doubt he is the most lethal striker in the State League — but everyone knows that anyway.

What we didn't know was that Albion Rovers could come up with an import as good as Alistair Denham or a full back like Stove Stokes.

Stokes is as short as one of his predecessors, Jim Depents, but just as determined and more imaginative. Denham, playing his first match since arriving from the Scottish junior league showed speed and flair playing as an at-tacking midfreider down the left Danny McCluskey was support when pressured and is not fast enough to efficiently cover his other defenders.

Frankston's defence, apart from Mance Bannon, was not desired. On top of that, very few passes came out of defence, making the job of the Frankston midfididers very hard.

Ged Bannon, Kovin Swinscoe and Willie Coulson were also very poor.

Speed is still the biggest deficiency of the Frankston defence.

Last year, Gladesville RSL (NSW), fielded two teams in the under 7 competition and both teams played extremely well to get to the top.

The under 7/3 side won the top four competition, while the under 7/4 won the premiership undefeated.

His team (the under 7/4's), finished the season with an aggregate of 54:1!

Eerie dream

By KYLE PATTERSON

In August last year, George Campbell had an eerie dream that he would break his leg.

"It was very strange", George remembers. "I woke up and said to myself: "I'm going to break my leg today".

"My wife Jean and I were staying with some friends and I told everyone at breakfast about the dream. It never entered my mind not to play that day, but the dream had me pretty convinced something was going to happen

But worse was to follow for Campbell. When he arrived at Middle Park, the splint used in leg break cases was out on the South cases was out on the South Melbourne treatment table. "That made me even more suspicious it wasn't going to be my day", said Campbell. "I had experiences at Aber-deen where the splint was out before a game, was new proper a leaver holes a was out before a game, and later a player broke a leg. It happened three times. Every time the splint was laying about, a player went down".

Campbell demanded the Campbell demanded the splint be put away as soon as he saw it in the Middle Park change rooms.

Later a tackle by Frank Lister made Campbell's dream a reality.

"As soon as I was tack-led", said Campbell, "I dream a reality.

knew my leg was gone".

Campbell maintains he's not a superstitious person.
Therefore the dream and the untimely appearance of the splint are highly mysterious.

"I have a few habits", he said, "but I'm definitely not superstitious. I like to take a ball out with me when theteam runs onto the pitch and put my shin pads on last. But most of the things soccer players do are habit".

After spending the close season in Scotland on a holiday. Campbell is now ready for the new season.

"After the plaster came off", he said: "I had a lot of physiotherapy. In Scotland I gave the leg complete rest. I didn't kick a ball the whole time I was away and was introduced to training slowly when I got back.

The leg now feels fine and my mental attitude is good. After a leg break, some players can't get back into the game because of a fear in the back of their mind. I will not have that problem".

Being an elusive, dangerous forward, Campbell has been and will continue to be a target for robust tackles. But this he doesn't mind.

mind.
"I don't mind being tack-led hard", he said. "But when players tackle over the ball and flick your ankles with niggling chal-lenges, I really get fed up.

leriges, I really get fed up.
"Full backs really annoy me. They seem to think it's their privilege to hammer wingers but not to be tackled back. If a winger tackles a full back hard a couple of times, the defender can't understand it'.
Campbell's comeback
game was against Footscray JUST in a practice match. He came on at half time and although he didn't set the game on fire, he came through a couple of 50-50 challenges, showing no lack of courage.
But the leg break has had a big bearing on Campbell's life.

But the leg break has had a big bearing on Campbell's life.

"The Injury showed me just how quickly a professional player can have his career finished", said George. "I had plenty of time to think, and now I'm looking at finding a job that will give me security for when I'm finished with soccer.

"I've been a pro for five years. It's the only thing I know, When I was with Aberdeen they encouraged me to go to night school, and I passed my higher grades and did a year of business studies. But now I'm looking for a career".

South Melbourne originally wanted Georgie to stay a full-time player, but he sees no point in that if the whole club isn't full-time.

Another big influence on wee Georgie is his wife Jean. The couple were married in Scotland during their recent holiday in their homeland.

Campbell's plans to settle in Australia are not definite.

"We want to make a go of it", he said. "We know what it's like in Scotland, and have got over the homesickness. Everyone who comes to Australia to live should try to get back to their homeland for a holiday pretty soon after settling here. That way you are sure you are making the right decision and it stops you from becoming too home sick".

Unfortunately, even if Campbell becomes an Australian citizen, he may not be able to represent this country on the soccer field.

When I spoke to him, he was unsure of the position but his two games for the Scottish Youth team may rule him out of Australian contention. Campbell played against Denmark twice in European Youth Championship matches. The first leg, in Denmark, was a 0-0 draw, but the Danes were victorious on Scottish soil, win-ning 2-1 at Rugby Park, Kil-

The 'white Pele' will de-finitely be one of the success stories of Austral-ian soccer in the next few years. He certainly has the ambition.

I asked him which game he rated as his most memo-rable of his Australian career. He gave this answer:

Attila Abonyi.

Cries of "Buljo, Buljo" can still be heard when Buljevic plays but our soccer has lately lacked individualists with the flair and majestic touch to capture the imagination of the fans.

But Campbell and team mate Ken Drakeford could well be the stars to fill this void.

Campbell has already

Campbell has already won the hearts of South Melbourne fans and the recently-signed Drakesford promises to be almost as popular as wee Georgie.

The South Melbourne stars, who are similar in appearance, have the attribut-es to become the biggest crowd-pullers and the top entertainers in the national league.

Both are small but lion-hearted, with a boyish look about them. Their blond hair makes them stand out-as much as their speed and ability to dribble past a maze of opponents.

Importantly, both Camp-bell and Drakesford can score goals and they can do the unexpected.

Campbell has been dubbed the 'white Pele' and the 'little tiger' would be an "Paying customers have a right to be entertained", said Campbell. "To pay three dollars and then see a drab game is bad value for soccer fans.

"Every team needs a personality. Soccer's a team game but it's very important to have indi-viduals who can set the game alight".

Without over-rating him-self, Campbell knows he is exactly the type of player he has described.

"I don't go out on the field with the aim of winning over the crowd", said George. "but my style endears me to the fans. My blond hair and size have a lot to do with it. I stand out on the field.

of the South Melbourne players.

"Ken's a very good play-er", said George, "and he will be a big asset to the club. He has a lot of skill and a turn of pace.

"We get on great and have a mutual respect for each other. It's definitely not going to be a case of Ken and I trying to out do each other field. If the fans take a fancy to him, it will mean more support for the rest of the players".

As the Americans have shown the soccer world, the creation of personalities - whether comedians, temperamental stars or flamboyant individuals - is an important cog in the promotions wheel.

"We can learn a lesson from the Americans", said George. "They know every promotional angle and it's because of this the game port".
Georgie sees the in-because of this the game s grown so quickly in the Campbell pointed to the New York Cosmos as an example.

AGAIN LIKE Cosmos, South Melbourne has an abundance of star players, but Campbell likes to play down South's image as a super-club.

"A lot of clubs are jealous of South Melbourne", said Georgie, "They can't match Souths, and so they jump on the bandwagon and crit-icise the club.

The English First Division could prove to be a happy hunting ground for Pools punters this week.

punters this week.

The game between Birmingham and West Bromwich Albion is a local derby, and although West Brom looks by far the better team, I'm gambling on the home side to force a draw.

The other matches I favor as score draws in the division are at Chelsea, Ipswich, Manchester City and Wolves.
Chelsea entertain another London side in Q.P.R., and when looking at both side's lowly position in the ladder, I think this game has all the ingredients for a score draw.

Judging on recent form, the matches at Ipswich, Manchester City and Wolves look to be fairly tight games. In the Second Division I've selected the games at Leicester and Preston. Luton make the visit to Leicester, and this appears to be another close affair. West Ham has to make a long journey north to play Preston, and the home side may just prove good enough to share the points.

In the Third Division the games between Carlisle and Shrewsbury, Oxford and Brentford, and Sheffield Wednesday and Blackpool are likely draws. Apart from looking like close games, the three home sides have already been involved in a combined total of 20 home draws for this season.

In the Fourth Division I've taken the matches at Grimsby, Hartlepool and York, Grimsby is at home to Aldershot and both these sides are vying for a place in the Third Division.

At the other end of the ladder, York is at home to Huddersfield, and this game could be very even. Hartlepool very land the first six spaces of the diagram. It doesn't matter in what order you place your remaining nine selections.

SLAVIA NEXT FOR 18-GOAL KEILO

First Division club Kellor City will test out its newly-found goalscoring pro eets Slavia in the Dockerty Cup at Connor Reserve, Reservoir on Sunday.

Kellor City qualified for the first main round by thrashing Mooroolbark by the mam-moth score of 18-0 last Sat-

Yet Keilor almost missed the game altogether, as players drove out to Mooroolbark, thinking the game would be played there, whereas it was scheduled instead for Schintler Reserve, cup at Corinor Reserve, Real from Preston-Makedonia. Presidiski had also returned from there. He had left Keilor to coach Makedonia? a reserves. Keilor obviously will find it much harder against Slavia but the confidence galined from the 18-poal win should enable Keilor to cause the State League side a few problems. However, I doubt that the Keilor defence is strong enough to cope with Slavia's dangerous strikers, Jim Paton, Jim Williams and Stave Aldridge. # You're now a coach . . . or are you?

A view from the junior ranks

BY LEIF JENSEN

I talked about yelling at players in last week's "Soccer Action". This is, in my opinion, where one call tell a good coach from a bad one.

from a bad one.

If you have to yell at your boys during a game,
you might as well throw your badge away. Why?
Because what you are really doing is reliing the world that you don't know how to teach players correctly.

Boys who are taught how to play soccer the right way need no one to yell at them during a

game! Boys will make mistakes (and that goes for senior players too) but do you really think that you can correct these in a game? If you do, you are a FOOL. Shouting is only degrading to your players as well as to yourself, and it usually has an adverse effect on players, with the result that they play even worse or not at all.

Why doof you storm away in your head all these even worse or not at all.

Why don't you store awy in your head all these little mistakes made during a game, and in your next coaching session try to rentify them?
I must admit that touchline coahese (and that includes mun, dad and others) are one of my eth hates. You do nothing to improve the game and even less to help your boys by your stupid advice, so ... why don't you SHUT UP?

get a shock.

Save your vocal cords and substitute some hand-clapping when a boy shows a little bit of "magic". Doing this will lift a boy's and indeed a team's performance, and a lot of people will enjoy their next soccer game a lot more.

heir next soccer game a not most.

Now that we have dealt with the ugly part f soccer, let's get back to coaching of your boys.

One of the big mistakes I see around the parks is one which I saw once again the other day. A little under 10 team was having a session and this is how it started... all the lads sitting in a neat circle, with the coach standing up in the centre... coach with the coach standing up in the centre . . . coach talking away, using his arms like a wind-mill, explaining: "This is what I want you to do . . . and this is what I don't want you to do . . . and on and on . . and on.

, and on.

After about five minutes of his raving, some of the kids started fooling around and duly were reprimanded with a: "Sit still and listen".

After 10 minutes a general look of boredom became evident, little faces turning completely

Acter 10 minutes a general rook of observables are became evident, little faces turning completely blank.

And after 15 minutes (yes, I had the gall to time id the circle was no longer a circle. The boys looked as if they were sitting on an ant-hill, bodies twisting and turning, with others nearly going to sleep. They were finally allowed to get up and the coach produced five or six balls, made a goal with two jumpers, lined his boys up about 10 yards from the goal, and starred to roll a ball across the filed with a boy running in to shoot for goal. This went on until the last boy had had his kick and then the whole thing was repeated again. How long this went on for I don't know because I became as bored with the whole thing as indeed most of the boys appeared to be.

Well, if that is coaching I will kiss Ron Bareasis's boots in the middle of the M.C.G. with 80-000 people watching.

You know what . . I think these little boys would.

OOD people watching.

You know what . . . I think these little boys would learn more if this man just gave the six balls to his boys, went away and came back after about two hours. And do you know what else? I think he would find it hard to get the boys to stop their playing, even after two hours and without a "coach", don't you?

Which brings us to a point worth remembering, Boys come to soccer to pley and learn . . . NOT TO BE TORTURED.

Women players wanted

The Waverley City women's accept team is looking for new players.
Playing experience is not essential, and any females interested should contact coach Colin Hubbard on 546 1674.
